A flat iron found in Mrs. Angle's apartment stained with blood fitted the dent in Ballou's straw hat, and the police believe that the fron was the instrument used by his assailant.

Mrs. Florence Carman is the beautiful wife of Dr. Edwin Carman, of Freeport, L. I. Her husband had many women patients. She was jealous of them. She installed a dictograph in his office in order that she might hear the conversation which took place between him and his women patients. While Mrs. Louise Balley was being treated in Dr. Carman's office she was slain by an unknown person. Dr. Carman believes that the builet which killed Mrs. Balley was intended for him. Since then three shots have been fired at him. Both women say they know nothing about the crimas.
